I can't support sharing a key to anything with Margot. She has never come through as agreed on anything we have tried to work with her on.

I am not sure who does Margot's grunt work and therefore am not excited to be handing out a key especially with our bookstore supplies and the potential Historical society. Let me talk this over with Don and the team and we will work it out for this Friday.

Hey Miki,

Thanks again for helping with getting the barricades over to the 87th street on-site storage. We have 20 on-site now along with 3 cones and traffic sign (i think it reads "road closed" ..not sure). Steve mentioned that there are 20 or so left in the main storage. All up, for Margot and her First Friday would it be helpful for her to have a key to the on-site storage to use the barricades and such since we have them there and handy. For us, we will need additional cones and traffic signs to go with the barricades (I'll have down later today in the mix of discussing additional purchases), but thought I'd send this note in advance in case it made sense to loop through with Margot and get her a key before this Friday ...

k, off n rolling,

Best,

Cynthia
